2018 UBC - NTNU Graduate Summer Program

June 25th - July 23rd
2018

Course 1:
Contemporary Debates and Issues in Curriculum and Pedagogy

Dr. Karen Meyer
Associate Professor

Course 2:
*Comparative
Curriculum Studies:
Curriculum Issues and Cultural Institutions in Education*

Dr. David Anderson
Professor

Course 1:

Contemporary Debates and Issues in Curriculum and Pedagogy

- ❑ Inquiry into past and present initiatives, movements and critiques of approaches to curriculum and pedagogy.
- ❑ Exploration of experiences of teachers and real contexts of contemporary schools through written case studies, visits to school and learning environments, and discussions with practicing teachers.
- ❑ Connecting students own experiences and narratives of education to current themes in curriculum and pedagogy to articulate new possibilities for their practice

Course 2:

Comparative Curriculum Studies: Curriculum Issues and Cultural Institutions in Education

Exploring the construct of Comparative Curriculum in a very broad sense, including curriculum

- ❑ across educational contexts (outdoor, museums, and cultural institutions for education)
- ❑ across the lifespan from early childhood through senior years
- ❑ across national and cultural boundaries – examining the way different national jurisdictions perceive and interpret curriculum in and beyond K-12.

This course will draw heavily on UBC and Vancouver cultural institutions and resources to examine how they create opportunities for meaningful curricula for audiences across the lifespan.
